RADE CONGRESS

Some of Delegates to Pan-American Conference Obiect to Arrangements.

PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED

Officials Eager to Avoid Impression that Special Benefits Are Sought for United States.

An informal conference by Secretary of the reasTury McAdoo with delegates from all save two of the Latin-American republies marked the opening here yesterday of the conference caled to devise means whereby the countries of this disturbances such as resulted from the outbreak of the European war and at the same time prepare to reap the benehis of the new opportunities which the

The program consists of a week's round of speechmaking by President Wil-son and lesser officials and one of the most arduous schedules of social entertainments ever undertaken on so large a s-zle at the National Capital. The officials, the second to the reserve board, and then will follow dissertations by the delegates of the United States and the Importance of Conference.

The real importance of the conference however, will be governed by the achievements of the informal discussions which have been arranged for the different delegations during the week. The delegates have been divided into committees and to each committee has been assigned one or more American delegates. These com-mittees will report to the full conference on Friday, and whatever joint action the conference may take will be based upon these recommendations.

The social events include a reception by President Wilson, luncheons at the residence of Secretary of State Bryan. reception by Ambassador Naon in celebration of the 15th anniversary of Ar-gentine independence, a breakfast at the home of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Peters, a banquet at the Pan-American Building, and a visit to Mount Vernon on the President's yacht Mayflower. At the end of the week the dele-gates will leave on special trains for a our of financial and industrial centers of the United States.

There were indications yesterday that ome of the delegates who have arrived are not pleased with the arrangements which they find have been made. It is vident that one thing that the Treasury and State Department officials in charge of the conference will have to war against carefully is the creation of the impression among the Latin-American delegates that the conference is being manipulated to secure benefits for the United States to the neglect of the interests of the other countries participating. It was pointed out that two of the purposes which government officials are believed to have in mind to further are the establishment of "dollar exchange" all the American countries and the pro-motion of a United States merchant

Racquet Club of Philadelphia Wins Ball Game Held for Charity.

CONTEST NETS $1,000

Local Athletes Cannot Hit and Dave Tenant Batted Freely by Visitors. Score Is 7 to 3.

Frequent exhibitions of juggling by the ntields and the ability of the outfielders to grab the balls before they bounded over the fence featured the ball game at American League Park yesterday afternoon between the Racquet Club, com-posed of society men of Philadelphia, and a team representing the Metropolitan and Chevy Chase clubs, of this city, for the benefit of the free wards of Providence

Hospital. The players fought bravely through six The players fought bravely through six innings, when the heart of King Pluvius was touched by the panting of the out-fielders, who had covered every inch of the field a score of times in pursuit of the elusive sphere, and poured down deluge of H2O, ending the game with the score 7 to 3 in favor of the Quaker City team. The winners were awarded liver loving cup.

The score does not give either team The score does not give either team credit for the amount of exertion required to stop the ball when hit, and to hit it when at bat. It often seemed as though some mysterious force kept the bat from touching the ball, as the volunteer athletes swung with all their might. And when the ball would occa-sionally get in the way of the bat the entire infield deemed it their duty to throw out the runner. One of the fea-tures of the game was the number of

It looked as though the Racquet Club would walk away with the local aggregation up to the fourth inning, when Dave Tenant, pitching for the locals, was yanked in favor of Lieut. George Easterday, U. S. A., who kept the visitors to one hit and one run the remainder of the game.

The Washington team, especially the outfield, demonstrated its remarkable ability at sprinting when the Racquet Club was at bat, but the local boys found it so hard to get on base that their fleetness of foot availed them little their fleetness of foot availed them little in scoring runs. Ted Coy, former Yale football star, played right field for the locals and Danny Hutchinson, of the University of Pennsylvania, held down third for the visitors.

third for the visitors.

Few Hits: Lots of Errors.

Both teams got in the way of so many drives without stopping them that the hits were few, the locals making six and the visitors seven. Giving the fielder the benefit of the doubt in every case, there were about six errors chalked up against each team.

In spite of the threatening weather, a large number of society folk filled the boxes and grandstand. The ladies in charge of the affair stated last night that they expect the receipts reached $1,000. Miss Isabel Hagner occupied the box of Secretary McAdoo. Others in boxes were:
